

I have been made aware that Sinclair Broadcasting Corporation is influencing their local television stations in order to get them to air a documentary called "Stolen Honor" that gives a one-sided view of his military record.

Media companies that use public airwaves have a duty to serve the public interest. That is fundamental to a healthy democracy.

Please make sure that large broadcasting conglomerates are held to a standard of fairness in journalism, for example, not skewing public viewpoints just prior to an election.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
